Ladies of Charity Invest Ten New Members

The Ladies of Charity of St. John the Evangelist, Naples, invested ten new members on March 15 at the 9:00 a.m. Mass celebrated by Fr. John.

Deacon Rob Chalhoub, chaplain of the organization, with the assistance of President Val Matulis and Vice President Anne Michaels, installed the following women: Caroline Bishop, Louise Dodd, Joan Johnson, Barbara Kavney, Genevieve King, Jeanne Meleo, Lee Myalls, Sandie O'Connor, Linda Salava, Ellen Hooper.

Fr. John also presided over the installation of the new slate of officers: President is MarieElaina Mullin, Vice-President – MaryEllen Sabol, Secretary – Kathy Kasper, and Treasurer - Anne Michaels.

During Mass each inductee received a beautiful silver Crucifix and the Ladies of Charity of the U.S.A. Manual. Following Mass the members, Fr. John and Deacon Rob enjoyed a deliciously catered brunch.

Their Mission Statement reflects their commitment to service to the poor:

“Recognizing that each life is a gift from God, and that we are called by God to do this work on earth, we gather together bonded by God’s love, to share His love and our own unique God-given talents to serve our community. We strive to preach the gospel by our actions in humble service to others.”

The Ladies of Charity are involved in numerous outreach projects in Collier County. On Wednesday and Thursday of each week two different groups of six to ten women carpool to the RCMA Community School of Immokalee. Each lady is assigned up to five students for one-on-one help with reading. Simply listening to the child read aloud, offering encouragement and giving helpful hints to improve their skills has proved to be an invaluable help to these youngsters.

Members of the group attend monthly Masses at three local assisted living/ nursing homes, provide friendly visits and perform simple errands for the elderly and homebound, as well as serve at the Guadalupe Center’s soup kitchen and St. Matthew’s House one day each month.

A hugely successful bicycle drive organized by Val Matulis provided 226 bikes to the children in Immokalee, while their efforts to raise funds for the soup kitchens they service produced almost $8,000 in donations from the St. John the Evangelist parishioners. These funds will be shared by Casa Maria or St. Matthew’s House soup kitchens during the summer months when donations slow down.

Mentoring young women residents of Providence House and supporting their efforts to become self-sufficient in their careers and successful in their life choices is another ongoing project.

The Ladies of Charity always welcome new members whether seasonal or full-time residents. The Lord may be calling you to this ministry. If you are interested in joining the Ladies of Charity check the Sunday Bulletin for contact information regarding the next meeting on the second Friday of October, 2013.

Life Matters

I hope no one really missed this column last week. The launch of the Spiritual Adoption program was the big Life news of last week. I'm hoping everyone has a newly adopted unborn baby to pray for and protect as we follow his or her development in this column and online. The Respect Life committee has also ordered some posters to keep track of our babies' development.

I was hoping to bypass the other big news on the Pro-Life front, that being the trial of the now infamous Dr. Kermit Gosnell in Philadelphia. I am hoping you are aware of this story, but if you are getting your news exclusively from the mainstream media, chances are you know very little of the house of horrors this abortion doctor has run for almost 35 years. According to The N.Y. Times, this is "a local story" and they are not covering it. CBS and NBC have both pretty much ignored the story. It is so bad, that the non-coverage of this major news event has become a story of its own.

In a nutshell, Dr. Gosnell is on trial for the murder of seven infants and one mother. If these eight lives had been taken by a gun, we would be hearing about every detail of every movement leading up to their deaths. But these lives were taken by a doctor, sworn to do no harm. Is it possible the media is beginning to see the hypocrisy of their stance? I doubt it. Let's remember to pray for all the victims of abortion. Dr. Gosnell's trial helps us remember that these are live babies, often viable, and vulnerable women who feel they have nowhere else to turn, who are the real victims of abortion. God bless you and keep praying to bring an end to this grisly practice in our country.

Don't forget to pray for your adopted baby!!

Last week's Bible on the Beach with our high school youth group was a blast. About 25 of us walked down to Delanor Wiggins for some ultimate football, swimming and chilling at the beach. Bible on the Beach gives teens the opportunity to experience God through the beauty of his creation and his Word. We practice an ancient Christian form of reading the Bible called Lectio Divina. Students learn how to read Scripture in a slow, prayerful manner that enables God's Word to penetrate their hearts and transform their lives.

Ultimate football!

Stay tuned for upcoming Summer events, including:

- Ice Skating at Germain Arena
- Bowling
- Sun-N-Fun Lagoon
- Mini-Golf
- Bible on the Beach

LET US PRAY...

APRIL 28, 2013 ~ FIFTH SUNDAY OF EASTER

Last Friday, 458 parishioners packed the ballroom for our annual Reverse Raffle. I would like to make one final THANK YOU to those who purchased tickets to this marvelous event. Now that many of you have experienced what a fun time was had by all, selling tickets next year should not be such a struggle. We made winners out of approximately 25 attendees, although as it turns out, there was only one BIG winner, claiming the entire $10,000.00 prize. After drawing the first 290 tickets, the remaining 10 ticket holders were invited to come up to the dance floor for the grand finale. Unfortunately, three of the final 10 were not in attendance so we continued drawing tickets. When we were down to the final two tickets, there was one person present and one that chose not to attend. As it turns out, Carol Swank was the last person standing and claimed the entire $10,000.00 grand prize. Carol Slater claimed the $750.00 side board prize, while Tom & Ginny Tette claimed the $1,500.00 side board prize.

After realizing that she had indeed won the grand prize, Carol was ecstatic and speechless at the same time. Ironically, Carol (a seasonal resident) just registered at the parish only two weeks ago. Asked what she was going to do with her new found fortune, Carol gave a truly selfless response. Carol is a member of a parish in Virginia which is over 150 years old. The roof on her northern church is in total disrepair and needs to be completely replaced. She is giving the entire $10,000.00 to this parish in order to replace the roof. She called her Pastor on Sunday morning and told him the great news. This is a truly heartwarming story and another example of the amazing parishioners we have within our parish. Congratulations Carol and thank you for your act of kindness.

I would like to give a “shout out” to the members of our youth ministry that helped with seating all of our 458 guests at the Reverse Raffle. This was a chaotic scene and your efforts helped this process run very smoothly.

Last week I alluded to the fact that I was attending the grand opening of Messner Publications’ new facility which houses their million dollar press which produces our bulletin. I have included several pictures of the press as well as a picture of the paper roll which ultimately becomes our bulletin. I was blown away by the entire process. The press is over 100 feet long and has countless moving parts. To think that we produce this publication weekly is truly amazing. The process begins with

Kathy Sims (our bulletin editor) producing the electronic version of our bulletin in house. She then sends the finished version to Messner Publications. The digital version is then sent to a machine where plates are made. Only one plate is made for every four pages of our bulletin. The plates (8 for each four page run) are then inserted onto the press and the color enhancement process begins. Nearly 500 pages will print before the acceptable version is set. This process is repeated seven times in the case of our bulletin, which is 28 pages. Once all eight copies (four pages per copy) are completed, they are sent to a machine which cuts the sheet into four pages. A collating machine then arranges the bulletin which is then sent to a stapling machine. Finally, the finished product is then boxed and shipped via FedEx to St. John the Evangelist. I felt it worthwhile to let everyone know exactly what goes into the process of producing our new bulletin.

You are all aware that our parking lot has been the subject of numerous discussions over the years. Ironically, after completing the Claussen Center in 2006, there is more than ample parking for everyone. This does not stop many of you from parking anywhere you deem appropriate. The attached picture was taken during the 9:00 a.m. Mass this past Sunday. The driver of the vehicle in question must have felt that since one of their four tires was touching the grass that this was a legitimate spot. As it turns out, there were several parking spaces no more than 50 feet away which were vacant. Had an emergency taken place during Mass, the fire department would not have been able to navigate past this vehicle to attend to a sick or injured parishioner. In addition, we would have received a nice fine from the North Naples Fire Department as a result. As you can see from the picture, this was a beautiful morning and an extra few steps to Mass certainly would not have inconvenienced this individual. Please consider my comments when parking your vehicles in our parking lot.

Scott Schlossberg at Messner Publications with the new 100 foot long million dollar press and the roll of paper used to print our weekly bulletin.

Speaking of the parking lot, have you taken a look at the trees which line our grass parking areas and campus? The majority of these trees are mahogany, while we also have gumbo limbo, black olive and oak. All of these trees are deciduous, however, their cycle is much different than the deciduous trees many of you are familiar with up north which lose their leaves in the fall and bloom in the spring. By looking at our parking lot, you would think that it is fall rather than spring. All of these trees lose their leaves and bloom during a very short cycle which generally lasts no longer than two months. In addition, the mahogany produces a very obnoxious seed pod which litters our parking lot with debris.

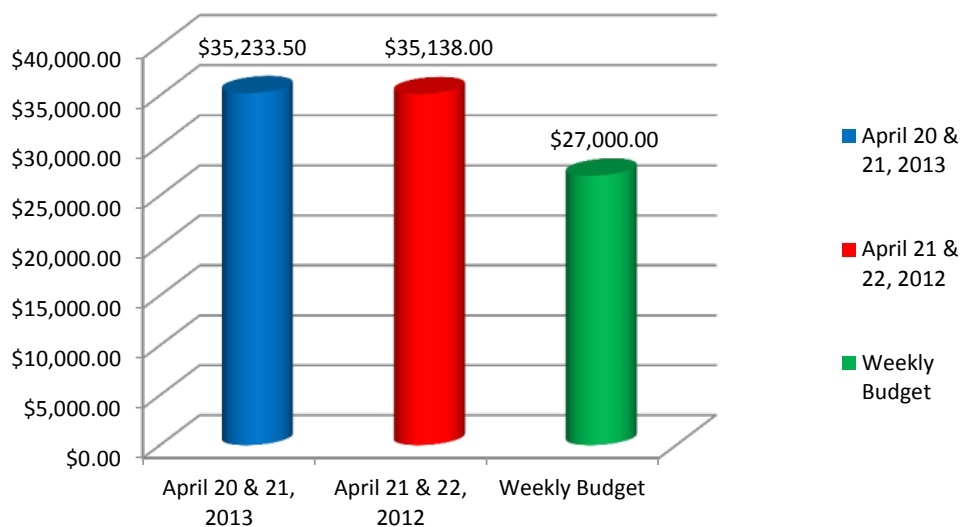

The good news is that this cycle is nearly complete and we will be able to appreciate the beauty of these trees for another 10 months until the cycle begins again.

Did you take a look at the Catholic Faith Appeal statistics in the bulletin? We have now exceeded 55% of our goal just over two months into the annual appeal. Thank you for your extreme generosity! Seasonal residents and visitors, please remember to make your check payable to the CFA with St. John the Evangelist in the memo line.

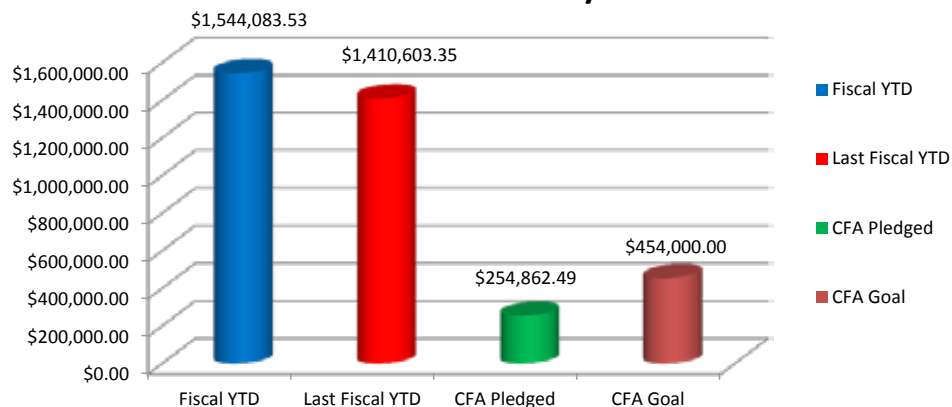

In His work together,

Scott Schlossberg, MBA

The Word & Life

The Wisdom of Love

*A*s we journey through the Easter Season we encounter the many human emotions in experienced in the characters of the early Church. In today's gospel we are taken back in time to the event of the last supper to remember how the early disciples are informed by Jesus that he will be departing their company. The disciples must have been confused or heartbroken at this news. Jesus offers them the wisdom of love as the model for their future. In offering the love of Jesus to others the Church begins to grow and flourish. In embracing the gift of Christ's love the healing and teaching of Jesus continues in the ministry of the apostles and early disciples. Although Jesus cannot be seen, his love can be felt. The people who live in first century A.D. Israel know the Christians by this love.

We are called to love as Jesus loved. This seems to be a simple task when simply stated, but the love that Jesus offered the world was quite radical and life-changing. Jesus' love is a gift that is to be offered to all peoples of every time and place. It is quite evident in the gospels that Jesus loved all people regardless of their sin or ignorance – Jesus hated the sin but loved the sinner. Our love is not to be offered in isolation to those who offer us love, but also to the ones we have difficulties with. The purest ideal of love is to offer it without conditions – in this we find much favor with God. We are called to love the sinner even when their sin has affected us or hurt us. This is indeed a difficult task in all honesty.

If we were to look at a good example of unconditional love, we could look to the vocation of parenthood. Parents watch their child grow and sacrifice themselves to provide the necessary nourishment for that growth, making safe the environment in which the child is to mature. Sometimes parents struggles inwardly when they see their child fall and make mistakes. True parents pick up their child when he falls and helps him move beyond his mistakes by offering this unconditional love that Jesus gave to his disciples. In order to see the child truly grow, parents have to embrace the gift of letting go in order to let the child find his way. Many parents at this time are preparing to deal with this reality as they see their children graduate high school and are faced with their leaving home. There are also many parents who have lost children through premature deaths, illness or sudden death. There are so many examples of selfless giving in society today. The early Church's witness to the unconditional love of Jesus continues in the Church today as people offer their lives to the ministry and the mission of the Church. People sacrifice countless hours in visiting the sick and tending to the needs of the community. Others put there lives in danger to minister to God's poor in countries that are devastated by famine, rebellion and oppressive governments. People are challenged in many ways to extend their love in the areas of society where love is yet to be born!

At the November St. Vincent de Paul food drive, St. John parishioners donated essential food items to fill a 1 ½ ton truck from floor to ceiling, roughly $50,000 worth of food, to help out those in need.

Reflection Questions

1. What does unconditional love mean to me?
2. Does Jesus' command of love inspire me to change my life? Why/why not?
3. In what concrete way may I display the selflessness?
4. Where is love lacking in my life?
5. How am I being called to mission and discipleship?
6. How can I glorify God by the life I lead?
7. Where do I need to grow?
8. What are my fears in following the Lord down the path of discipleship?
9. Am I willing to make the sacrifice that he made for me?

Reflecting on the Sunday Readings with Fr. John J. Ludden, Pastor

Prayer

Lord, bless all those who love and minister in your name. May our love for one another be a mirror imagine of your divine love. Bless those who struggle with love with the gift of your presence. As we experience the joys and sufferings of life, offer us the power of your infinite love. Amen!

The Proof of Discipleship

Alien not to the mystery of God
The disciple is immersed into a life of love
Open to God's command
Sacred to memory, Christ's words live on
"As I have loved you, so you also should love one another."

The disciples venture out into the world of the unknown
An ancient empire waits to ambush
The lives of these holy souls
Sacred to memory, Christ's words live on
"As I have loved you, so you also should love one another."

The proof of the discipleship is evident to see
As men and women go forth with a message
Proclaimed to set people free
Sacred to memory, Christ's words live on
"As I have loved you, so you also should love one another."

An ancient world hostile to the reality of Christ's love
Gather in the Colosseum and places of cruel sport
Imperial Rome giving witness to many gods lead their own to death
But sacred to memory, Christ's words live on
"As I have loved you, so you also should love one another."

The disciple is reminded of the radical life
As they call those who are brutal to change
To believe in the One who gives life through mercy and love
Sacred to memory, Christ's words live on
"As I have loved you, so you also should love one another."

Throughout times and seasons and the passing of time
Countless women and men offer their lives
In testimony to the Truth in love
Sacred to memory, Christ's words live on
"As I have loved you, so you also should love one another."

And so, the Church still stands
In the midst of many different faces within many distant lands
Men, women, and children called forth to a higher destiny
Sacred to memory, Christ's words live on
"As I have loved you, so you also should love one another."

In the work of justice and peace the Truth strives to set people free
The comfort of those who are lost, broken, and dying
Is proof of the true disciple
Sacred to memory, Christ's words live on
"As I have loved you, so you also should love one another."

A world now developed still hungers for the spiritual
Those spiritual but yet denied - of basic needs cast aside
The disciple is called forth to fulfill the hungers of every kind
Sacred to memory, Christ's words live on
"As I have loved you, so you also should love one another."

The domestic Church journeys forth
Grappling with the Sacred Word
Families endeavor to make sense of Christ and his message
Sacred to memory, Christ's words live on

By Kathleen M. Carroll

In today's Gospel, Jesus tells us how we should identify ourselves as Christians. He doesn't mention fish on Fridays or golden pendants. He doesn't endorse bumper sticker fish. He doesn't mention political parties. The old song proclaims, "They will know we are Christians by our love." But that's rarely the case. This hit home for me when my daughter mentioned that a friend, Zack, would not be going to the (Catholic) high school prom because "he's a Christian." She didn't press him on his answer, but when I asked, "Well, what are you?" she responded, "I thought I was Christian, but I'm going to a dance, so ...".

Now that Christianity has become the majority faith, we seem to have hit a new identity crisis. We don't strive to live our lives as "Christians," but as "Catholics," "Presbyterians," or (my favorite) "Bible-believing Christians." Even within the Church, there are divisions between conservatives and liberals, progressives and traditionalists, the "European" Church and the "American" Church. Jesus reminds us that the only competition we should have among ourselves is to love.

Bringing Home the Word, April 28, 2013, Franciscan Media

Scripture
LESSON

John 13:31-35, Love each other as Jesus loves

Jesus' command for us to love one another as he loves us is one of his most important and most difficult commands to follow. He gave this command at the Last Supper but the Apostles were so confused by what was happening they didn't understand its importance. Jesus talked of love and glory, and the Apostles didn't realize that both would involve great suffering.

Jesus wanted his followers to be clear that the love we are to have for each other is to be as sacrificial as the love he demonstrated throughout his life and on the Cross when he gave his life for us. As true Christians, we'll love everyone with the love of Christ. He said, "This is how all will know that you are my disciples, if you have love for one another."

What can a parent do? Jesus intended for Christians to stand out in the world by behaving differently than non-believers. Remind children that because Jesus is no longer visible on Earth with us, we have to be his hands and his heart to those around us.

Saturday - May 11, 2013

Fathers, Uncles, Grandfathers, or anyone with a special girl...please join us for our First Annual Daddy/Daughter dance presented by Cub Scout Pack 226 and St. John the Evangelist Church. This event will be a great opportunity for Dads to spend quality time with their daughters. We all want our daughters to see a good example of how a strong Catholic man should treat them. Dads can use this opportunity to open car doors, demonstrate respect, teach modesty, and treat your daughter(s) like a princess. Your daughters will love the chance to dress up as you show them they are a special gift from God our Father.
