the EAGLE

Saint John to Re-Open Beautiful Church on June 29

The excitement is building! Saint John the Evangelist Catholic Church has endured close to an entire year without our Sanctuary. We have been blessed with a Parish Family that has been dedicated and flexible in our temporary spaces in our ballroom and our gym, but it is now time to come home.

We will be celebrating the opening of our new church building on Saturday, June 29, at 3:00 p.m. with a special Mass and dedication of our new Altar, Liturgical Environment, and just about every square inch of the church. There will be tours of the church starting at 1:00 p.m. and then a reception to follow the Mass in the Pulte Family Life Center. Please join us for this amazing moment in our History.

We wanted to give you a little taste of what is only a short week away, so here are just some small details to whet your appetite:

A Prayer for World Peace

Dear God, thank You for all creation. In the spirit of Jesus of Nazareth and all teachers of peace who inspire the many faith traditions, help me and all the people of the world learn how to replace hate, war, oppression, and division with love, peace, freedom, and reconciliation. Help me to embody Your love in my relationships with my family, friends, strangers – even my enemies. I commit myself to this sacred task throughout my life. So let it be. Amen.

Gospel Reflections

with Father Tom

*A*t one time or another, all of us have been ignored or passed over. This can be very painful. We feel that our work is not recognized, and we ourselves are treated as if we didn't really count.

But something worse can happen to us than to be ignored. We could be forgotten. This is even more painful. It is to be treated not just as of little account, but of no account at all. It is as if we didn't exist.

We all pine to be remembered. It is said that people do not fear death so much as the possibility of being forgotten. To be forgotten is to be treated as if you were of no significance, that you didn't matter to anyone. It's as if you never existed.

Jesus, too, wanted to be remembered. The night before he died, as he sat at the table with his friends, he took bread and said, "This is my body given for you." Then he took the cup filled with wine and said, "This is the cup of my blood... Do this in memory of me."

Of course, Jesus was not just thinking of his own need to be remembered. He was thinking also about his disciples. They, too, needed to remember him. In his love for them, he left them a special way of remembering him, namely, the Eucharist.

Every time we celebrate the Eucharist, we recall some of the wonderful things he said and did. We reflect on them and try to apply them to our lives. But the Eucharist is more wonderful still.

When we remember him in this way, he becomes present to us. Not physically present, but nevertheless really present.

Through the Eucharist, a spiritual bond is forged between us, with the result that we are able to enter into a deeper intimacy with him than if he were physically present. We are not merely in communication with him, but in communion with him, a holy communion.

Memory is a precious faculty. It connects us with people and events that are no longer present to us. If we cherish the memory of our loved ones, they become present to us. They are not just a memory but a real presence, a presence we feel rather than see. By remembering them we continue to reap a harvest from what they sowed while among us.

How much more fruitful it is to remember Jesus, especially in the way he asked to be remembered.

Acton Institute's Popular Documentary "The Birth of Freedom" Will Be Shown at St. John the Evangelist This Independence Day Week.

It's a good place to start if you're interested in recalling, learning, or helping others to understand the deep roots of the freedom we celebrate every Fourth of July. The freedom that defines, in part, what it means to be an American citizen, that answers the question, "How is freedom born?"

- The Birth of Freedom traces the biblical roots of liberty. You'll see the historical development of the concept of freedom.
- Slavery was universal until Christendom gradually abolished it in Europe. This transformation was driven by the idea that every human is made in the image of God.
- Athens and Rome experimented with representative government, but they lacked something that Medieval Europe had; the Judeo-Christian worldview.
- The European Middle Ages was a time of amazing technological, economic, and artistic progress – and Christianity played a central role.
- From the invention of the printing press through the American Revolution, political and religious freedom continued to grow, and Christianity was a driving force.
- The American Revolution led to gradually increasing freedom. The French Revolution led to bloody internal purges and the dictatorship of Napoleon. The difference was that the Americans embraced their Christian heritage, but the French rejected it.

- Today, we grapple with relativism vs. religion. See how history shows us the best way to defend freedom.

This one-hour, widescreen documentary will be shown three times Independence Day week. Choose the day and time that best fits your schedule.

- Monday, July 1st, at 11:30 a.m.
- Wednesday, July 3rd, at 9:30 a.m.
- Wednesday, July 3rd, at 6:00 p.m.

All screenings will be in the Nazareth Room of the Pulte Family Life Center.

Produced by the Acton Institute, whose mission is to promote a free and virtuous society characterized by individual liberty and sustained by religious principles. For more information, go to www.acton.org.

Verse 1)

You gave me a title, although I didn't know you.
You called my name, and blessed me with life.
Now I've squandered the fortunes of my childhood,
given in to a world of lies...
But I can't hide forever from what I know is true;
Jesus, I surrender my life to you (to chorus)

Verse 2)

The mountains, they move at the sound of your holy name;
the lame will walk and the blind will see.
I know you want my heart, I know that I am nothing;
you are the source of ev'rything...
And I can't live forever, unless I live in you;
Jesus I surrender my life to you (to chorus)

Chorus

'Cause YOU ARE THE LORD and there is no oth-er, You're my God and I'm not a - shamed,

I'll stand for you when the whole world fal-ters, I will bear your name And I won't be the same.
